Bird Flu in Batam, Indonesia

Following recent reports of bird flu among chickens in Batam, Indonesia, we would like to assure our business partners and the public that there are no such cases reported in Bintan Resorts. Chicken meat imported into Bintan Resorts does not come from Batam. According to the authorities in Batam, there is no reported case of human transmission and the bird flu is only affecting the chicken in a few localised areas.

The management of Bintan Resorts has always placed top priority on the safety and security of our guests and maintains strict measures within the resort area so that our visitors can enjoy their stay with no worries.
